TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Refund Policy: Since our services are made to order and customized specifically for you, there is no provision for refunds once the order is confirmed and the creation process has begun.

Ownership and Usage Rights: The ownership of all songs created by Raaag remains with the company. By paying for the service, the customer reserves the right only to listen to the song for personal use. The customer does not have any ownership rights to use the song for any commercial activity or resale. If you wish to use the song in any commercial project, a separate license must be purchased.

Since music is subjective and everyone has different tastes, we do our best to match your preferences, but no revisions will be made if the customer changes their requirements afterward. Revisions will only be made if there is a genuine error by the artist or there is any technical error with respect to quality.
